House May Cite Dr. Townsend in Court for Contempt

OARP LEADER BOLTED HEARING THURSDAY

Says He'd Rather Go to Jail Than Submit to Probe

Washington, May 22.—(AP)—The possibility of a court trial of Dr. F. E. Townsend for his defiance of a house investigating committee was projected today by Speaker Byrns.

Termining the pension leader's walk-out on the committee "a plain case of contempt," the speaker told reporters: "I expect the house to take whatever action is recommended by the committee."

After a conference with the group headed by Rep. Bell (D-Mo.), Byrns said he believed that instead of arresting and bringing Townsend before the bar of the house, the committee possibly would offer a resolution referring the case to the United States attorney's office.

This step, he said, would be with a view to having an indictment brought against the physician in the District of Columbia courts, charging Townsend with contempt of the house.

Byrns said he did not expect the committee to bring the matter before the house until some time next week.

The committee itself took no immediate steps. It filed into the hearing room and faced an expectant and curious crowd.

Then, in an anticlimax, the committee immediately adjourned until this afternoon when, Bell announced, Dr. J. A. Pope, advocate of a pension plan similar to that proposed by Dr. Townsend, would appear.

As Byrns spoke, Townsend, in Baltimore, said he'd "rather go to jail" than submit to further congressional investigation of his plan to pay $200 a month to everyone past 60.

Amid an uproar, the elderly retired doctor bolted the hearing yesterday, protested against "this Communistic dictatorship" in Washington, and established headquarters in a Baltimore hotel.

Charging the committee with an "unfair and unfriendly attitude" and with asking him "vicious questions to besmirch" his character, he said he would return only if arrested.

Joining him in this battle against the committee was Gerald K. Smith, a leader in the late Senator Huey P. Long's share-the-wealth movement. Smith said "what the Townsend movement needs is a little action a la Huey Long."

Smith disclosed that he took Dr. Townsend to Baltimore in a taxi cab after the two walked out of the committee hearing arm-in-arm, leaving astonished spectators and the committee men in their wake.

Committee members shouted "stop him" and "close the doors." But the doctor was gone, with the applause and cheers of groups of Townsend sympathizers echoing after him.

Bell, immediately called an executive session of the committee. Members decided to prepare a resolution recommending that the house cite Dr. Townsend for contempt.

When Smith returned to Washington from Baltimore last night, he said he and Townsend planned some "real big meetings" and indicated they probably would confer with Father Coughlin, Detroit radio priest.

Furnishings of Old Nachusa Tavern will be Sold at Auction

Trustee in Bankruptcy Robert C. Turner of Freeport, today announced that all furnishings in the Nachusa Tavern, including all of historic mementoes which have been an attraction at the hotel for many years, will be sold at public auction next Tuesday, the sale commencing at noon. The hotel property was recently acquired by M. E. Rice, former owner, who will completely refurnish it before reopening it for business.

WIFE BEATER IS "EXECUTED" BY BLACK LEGION

Detroit, May 22.—(AP)—Police Inspector John I. Navarre announced today that four men, admittedly members of the "Black Legion," a secret society, had confessed they participated in the "execution" of Charles A. Poole, found shot to death May 13 on Gully road in Dearborn township.

Inspector Navarre said 16 officers of the society, who used black robes and hoods bearing skulls and crossbones in their ritual, were held for questioning. He said the four men who confessed told him Poole was not a member of the society but had been slain after he was accused of beating his wife, who was in a maternity hospital at the time of the slaying.

The inspector said the men told him eight bullets were fired into Poole's body as he crouched before the leader of the group who had told him "Poole, you have beaten up your wife for the last time."

EXPECT "CHICK" DAY TO ATTRACT CROWD TO PLANT

Dixon Packing Company To Give Away 3,000 Chicks Tomorrow

William Priebe of Chicago was in Dixon this morning for a short time enroute to Iowa, where he will attend a gathering of youngsters who are members of chick raising clubs. He had planned to remain in Dixon for the first annual Chick Day at the Dixon Packing company's plant on Seventh street tomorrow when 3,000 Buff Orpington chicks will be distributed to the first 100 boys or girls in this locality, whose applications have been filed.

Mr. Priebe stated that beginning tomorrow and continuing through until June 10, the Priebe company will give away to boys and girls ranging between the ages of 11 and 15, a total of 78,000 pure bred chicks, which will be hatched in the Priebe hatcheries at Iowa City, Iowa, one of the largest hatching plants in the world. The 3,000 birds consigned to the Dixon plant were received this morning.

Expect Many Visitors. Henry Schumacher, manager of the local plant, and his force were today completing arrangements for the entertainment of several hundred visitors Saturday. The plant will be open for inspection and the chicks and feed will be distributed to the first 100 boys and girls making application and who have qualified to receive the hatchings. It is the first time the plan has been given a trial at the Dixon plant and applications have been received for a much larger number of chicks than are on hand.

The Chick club is not confined entirely to children living on farms, but to those boys and girls who in their application promise to give attention to the flock and report monthly on the progress being made. All day tomorrow the children and their parents will be guests of Manager Schumacher and his force at the Dixon Packing company plant where they will be served refreshments and be entertained.

Mrs. Myrtle Blacklidge's Four-Year-Old $50,000 Slander Suit Against Edw. Litsinger is Set

Chicago, May 22.—(AP)—Filed in the Superior court more than four years ago, the $150,000 slander suit of Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge against Edward R. Litsinger, attorney and Republican party leader, was set for trial July 7 by Judge James J. Kelly today.

Mrs. Blacklidge, former collector of internal revenue here, charges in her suit that Litsinger damaged her reputation in a public statement issued following a widely publicized Springfield, Ill., faro game in which Mrs. Blacklidge lost $50,000 to several confidence men.

The game took place in January, 1931, and, according to Mrs. Blacklidge, she won a large amount of money, which the losers refused to pay until she proved she could have

BLAST AGAINST NEW DEAL OPENS G. O. P. CONCLAVE

Denies Roosevelt's Program Bettered 1933 Condition

Peoria, Ill., May 22.—(AP)—The Peoria armory was packed today as speakers at the Republican state convention opened oratorical attacks upon the Democratic national and state administrations.

The convention was called to order at 11:45 A. M., forty-five minutes late, by State Chairman Perry B. McCullough of Lawrenceville, who yielded the gavel to the temporary chairman, congressman Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin.

It was estimated approximately 6,500 Republican men and women were in the armory to listen to the speakers, approve the primary nominations, adopt a platform and act on a resolution to endorse Col. Frank Knox of Chicago as the presidential "favorite son."

Dirksen said the "men and women of this nation want work, rather than relief," declaring that Republicans oppose "remote control of relief from Washington."

Horner denounced the administration was denounced by the convention, with C. Wayland Brooks, nominee for governor, declaring that the sales tax should be reduced and ultimately abolished, with the levy removed at once from foodstuffs and other necessities.

Co-keynoter Otis F. Glenn, running for the Senate seat he lost in 1932, asserted that Rooseveltian policies are "unsound and impractical" and warned that the Republican campaign should not attempt to "outdo the New Deal."

Carl Williams of Winnebago county was named temporary secretary.

Louis L. Emmerson was the only Republican former governor on the platform. Col. Knox was not present when the convention opened, but most of the Republican dignitaries in the state were on hand.

Stransky Is Active. Former State Chairman Franklin J. Stransky was one of the Republicans taking brief parts in the organization of the assemblage. Photographs of Brooks, Lincoln and Glenn, surrounded by bunting and flowers, decorated the platform.

The preliminaries completed amid handclapping in oppressive heat, Dirksen said the Republican campaign is an "educational mission" and denounced what he called false Democratic propaganda in past campaigns.

The congressman declined the Roosevelt administration, contrary to platform promises, has not ended unemployment, has increased unnecessary governmental burdens and has boosted the national debt.

"Must we be stumped by the off-repeated and rather beguiling question, 'are you not better off than you were in 1933?'" Dirksen asked, "I think not. Must we commit our party to promises that we

Townsend Faces Contempt Trial

As a result of his walking out of a house committee hearing on his old age revolving pension plan, Dr. Francis E. Townsend shown above as he was being questioned by representatives, faces contempt proceedings in a District of Columbia court. The originator of the $200 monthly pension plan, established in a Baltimore hotel, declares he would rather go to jail and spend the rest of his days there than submit to further questioning by the "Communist dictatorship in Washington."

THREE SLAYERS HANGED TODAY IN CALIFORNIA

One of Executed Men Was Citizen of the British Empire

San Quentin Prison, Calif., May 22.—(AP)—Alexander Mackay, a British subject, and Joseph Kristy were hanged together today for their part in a violent prison break.

The gallows' trap dropped its double burden at 4 1/2 minutes after 10 A. M. and both were pronounced dead nine minutes later. The prisoners paid the death penalty for kidnapping prison officials and guards in a futile attempt to escape from the penitentiary a year ago.

Warden James B. Holohan, since resigned, was beaten and critically injured. The British government had intervened in Mackay's behalf and Gov. Frank A. Merriam had granted the men two reprieves.

SLAYER OF TWO HANGED.

Folsom, Calif., May 22.—(AP)—Earl "Bud" Kimball was hanged today for the murder of James C. Kennett, retired Chicago contractor. The trap was sprung at 10:01 A. M. (Pacific Standard time) and the 22-year-old youth was pronounced dead at 10:12.

Kimball admitted the killing and that of a youth known only to him as "Red" and whose identity never was definitely established, but he had pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity.

The bodies of both were found in abandoned mine shafts near Emigrant Gap. The state introduced evidence to show Kimball killed Kennett to obtain disability insurance checks, after luring him to a lonely cabin by telling him it was excellent fishing country and then shot the boy to silence him after he had learned of the murder.

George Willard is Injured in Crash

George Willard of this city, is in a critical condition at the Katherine Shaw Bethesda hospital, suffering from injuries sustained in an automobile crash last evening about 8:30 at the Hughes corners, north of Dixon on state route 26. Willard was coming to Dixon and as he approached the corners, another car entered the highway from the south of which Earl and Floyd Drew of this city were the occupants. The Drew car crashed

WOMAN'S BURNED BODY FOUND IN WOOD IN EAST

Chesterfield, N. H., May 22.—(AP)—The charred and broken body of an unidentified woman, apparently slain, Sheriff Frank J. Bennett said, by setting fire to her oil-soaked body, was found today on lonely Mt. Wantastiquet.

A 22 calibre pistol was found a few feet from the body. One shoe blackened by smoke, and possibly her teeth, acting Medical Examiner Norris Robertson said, were the only clues to the woman's identity. She apparently was between 20 and 40 years old.

Medical and police authorities agreed the woman's death "could not possibly have been suicide." Forest fire fighters discovered the body with arms and legs broken in a wild section about six or seven miles from this village.

Bennett said a forest fire which started Wednesday apparently was ignited by the woman's flaming body.

PILOT PREVENTS WOMAN LEAPING FROM HIS PLANE

Aviator Frustrated Attempted Suicide of Boston Domestic

Boston, May 22.—(AP)—A young woman who, Pilot Charles W. Sutherland said, attempted to leap from an airplane yesterday and was restrained only after a furious struggle, was identified today, Psychopathic hospital authorities announced, as Sue Lino, 20, a Boston domestic.

Dr. Riley H. Guthrie, executive physician of the hospital, said the girl had admitted her identity and explained she was employed in the household of a Boston attorney. Members of the family, whose name was withheld, later came to the hospital and identified her, Dr. Guthrie said.

Dr. Guthrie did not offer any explanation for the girl's behavior yesterday other than to say she was in a state of "extreme mental depression" and would be held at the hospital 10 days for observation.

Held Her By Hair

Sutherland, veteran pilot for Inter-city Airlines, brought his plane to a perfect landing at East Boston airport yesterday, one hand grasping the ship's "stick," the other entwined in the curly, chestnut locks of his passenger's bobbed hair.

At police headquarters Capt. William D. Donovan said her only response was:

"Just give me a gun."

She wept, but refused to talk later at the hospital. She was held there under close watch pending "further developments," police said. High above Boston harbor Sutherland said he fought a furious battle to keep his passenger in the open plane.

Was Ready to Leap

The young woman was seated in the rear cockpit. At the controls, separated from her by nearly a yard, sat the 29-year-old pilot.

"Suddenly," he related, "I glanced back and saw her standing half-out of the plane, one foot on a wing, the other just inside the cockpit. She had ripped off her goggles and her helmet. Her hair was blowing free. That came in handy later—it gave me something to hang onto."

$5,000 Verdict Against Ex-Sen. Dill and Sister-in-Law Will Be Appealed Their Counsel Declares

Mt. Vernon, O., May 22.—(AP)—A $5,000 verdict for Margie Heaton Dill in her $25,000 alienation of affections suit against former Sen. C. C. Dill and Mrs. Grace Dill headed the case today toward a higher court.

"I will appeal to the highest courts of the state before I will pay a penny in this case," Dill said as he left for Washington, D. C., late yesterday, just before a Common Pleas court jury brought in the verdict.

L. C. Stillwell, counsel for the Dills, said "the case undoubtedly will be appealed." He has three

"Wants Nothing To Do" With Wife's Funeral Today

Oregon, Ill., May 22.—(AP)—Guy Tallmadge's dreams of marital happiness with an auburn-haired widow were shattered today as the state launched an effort to send him to the electric chair for the slaying of his wife.

Tallmadge, 58-year-old, Rockford embalmer, was called to a formal arraignment on a murder warrant based on the killing of his wife, Besse, 53, cousin of L. E. Elzyre and sister-in-law of Ira Ware of Dixon.

State's Attorney S. Donald Crowell said he would seek an indictment from a grand jury tomorrow. He added:

"I intend to demand the death penalty for Tallmadge when he comes to trial. It was first degree murder—coolly planned and carried out."

Claimed Life Was "Hell"

In a confession announced by Crowell yesterday Tallmadge said he shot his wife to death at a deserted crossroads Tuesday night because the last six years of his married life were "a living hell." He had blamed the laying of a "ragged holdup man" until questioned under a "lie detector."

Crowell disclosed Tallmadge had purchased a ring for Mrs. Frances Birch, 30, "an old" widow. The prosecutor said Mrs. Birch told him that Tallmadge planned to get a divorce, marry her and settle down on a chicken farm.

Informed Tallmadge had purchased the death pistol May 11, the attractive young woman said: "He gave me my ring and bought the gun the same day."

"He was so understanding and sympathetic," she said but added: "my world has crashed about me."

She was brought here from her parents' home in East Moline and returned there later. She has a small daughter there.

Spurned Wife's Funeral

Tallmadge spurned a suggestion that he ask permission to attend his wife's funeral this afternoon.

To an inquiry as to whether he wished to attend the rites, Tallmadge replied:

"Hell, no! I don't want anything to do with it."

Mrs. Tallmadge was to be buried in Payne's Point cemetery.

The Rev. Charles Goff, Methodist pastor at Rockford, home of the Tallmadges, was to officiate at services at the Tallmadge home at 2 P. M.

Thirty six hours of excitement culminated in announcement of the confession. Through the night a few curious residents lingered near the jail-causing Sheriff Delos Blanchard to order extra deputies to stand by.

Death Weapon Found

The death weapon, a rusty automatic pistol, was found late yesterday in the field where Tallmadge had thrown it. The fired shell was jammed in the extractor mechanism.

Tallmadge's confession said it was the second weapon he had purchased. The first, the statement said, "didn't work—the firing pin was too short. I took it back to the Rockford pawn shop where he had purchased it on May 11 and exchanged it for this automatic."

Family differences, Tallmadge said in his confession, were responsible for the killing.

"My wife and I haven't lived together as man and wife for six years. x x x I tried to get her to go by herself and have a happy home, but she wouldn't go. She said she couldn't stay alone. x x x I told her that I married only her, not her relatives. We spoke of divorce several times. We had that understanding ever since our marriage that if either one of us was dissatisfied we would separate. She agreed to this not more than three weeks ago," the confession read.

Planned It Before

"This Tuesday night I shot her. I told her if she would get a divorce soon I would foot the expenses. x x x We agreed to see Francis Burchell (attorney and relative of Mrs. Tallmadge) and have him straighten this out. We didn't get that far. I don't know why I did it shot her, before getting there. x x x

Confessed—

I have thought of doing this a number of times but fought it back, but it got the best of me this time, I guess."

No tears or expression of grief appeared Tailmadge's face as he sat in a chair at the desk of Sheriff Blanchard in the Ogle county jail yesterday afternoon and listened to the reading of a warrant which charged him with the cold blooded murder. The small office was filled with news photographers, feature writers, deputies and county officials, while on the porch and steps men thronged and attempted to secure a look at the confessed murderer.

Shortly after 2:15, when word filtered out from the private office in the county jail that Tailmadge had "cracked" reporters and feature writers went scurrying for telephones. As they left the county jail, press photographers sought for vantage points to set up their tripods and begin securing "snaps." At Tailmadge's request, Mrs. Birch, who had remained in the office of State's Attorney Crowell until Tailmadge had signed the confession, was ushered from the court house to the county jail to confront a man whom she had termed "an ardent lover" retired in a black, smartly tailored suit, wearing white gloves, she held one hand over her face on the walk from one building to the other to prevent news photographers from securing pictures. She partook of a light lunch in the state's attorney's office to evade photographers, who surrounded the court house.

Inquest Tomorrow

Tailmadge did not show any great emotion when he listened to the words of Sheriff Blanchard who read the warrant charging him with murder. He sat in a swivel chair for a time, smoking a cigarette as cameras clicked and flashes came from cameramen, then suddenly he whirled around facing the desk, pulled his hat down over his eyes and hid his face from the photographers.

The warrant charging Tailmadge with having murdered his own wife, was drawn up by William J. Emerson, assistant state's attorney and former circuit judge and signed by State's Attorney Crowell before Justice of the Peace William E. Ziegenfuss. The murder warrant was read at 2:55 yesterday afternoon and shortly afterward Tailmadge was marched to a cell in the Ogle county jail, there to await the holding of the inquest, which is scheduled to be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

The Ogle county officials, Crowell and Emerson and Sheriff Blanchard, were duly congratulated for the expeditious manner in which they had been able to solve the murder and for their tireless efforts in hunting down every particle of evidence which had a bearing on the crime, which is said to have been one of the coldest blooded in Ogle county's history. These three officers worked tirelessly and their efforts were crowned with success in less than 24 hours time, as their investigation did not get well under way until late Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Birch, to whom Tailmadge had become engaged, posed with the Ogle county officials after the murderer had been locked up in his cell. While she gave out no statements, she was composed and collected. She was to have returned to Rock Island last evening to complete her vacation from her duties as cosmetics sales lady in a Rockford drug store.

The crowd which had gathered and dispersed, a few at a time, only to resemble again at intervals during the day yesterday, when a stranger was seen to enter the county jail, collected with in a short time after word passed out that Tailmadge had confessed. It was necessary to clear the sheriff's office to permit the release of the official statement by the Ogle county prosecutors to news men and for at least an hour the doors of the sheriff's office remained locked and guarded.

In the formal confession he signed yesterday afternoon, Guy M. Tailmadge stated that he had planned to slay his wife on two previous occasions but had lost his nerve each time after asking his wife to get out of their car on lonely roads to bring him a flashlight. This was the same pretext used to get Mrs. Tailmadge to get out of their car when she was slain last Tuesday night, according to the confession.

Tailmadge's confession was first made to Fred E. Inbau and M. E. O'Neill, from the Northwestern university crime detection laboratory.

Statement made to Fred E. Inbau at 2:05 P. M. on Thursday, May 21, 1936.

Reread by Guy Tailmadge who made it to Mr. Inbau originally—Reread in presence of Mr. M. E. O'Neill.

"I left Chana at 8:15 or 8:30 P. M. Tuesday night of this week and drove north across 77 highway to the top of the hill, turned around and came back. The reason I went up the hill is because I saw a car coming from Payne's Point, after I turned east on 77 and drove pretty near to the oil station, then I turned around and came back to the cross road and turned north to the scene of the tragedy. I got out of the car and went to the rear of the car. I asked my wife to bring the flashlight. I did this same thing on two other occasions with the intention of killing her, but couldn't go through with it. This time when she came out with the flashlight I shot her."

"Then I ran to the highway but came back and felt her pulse but she was dead. I then ran to the highway and flagged two cars neither of which stopped. As I ran to the highway I threw the gun on the east side of the road and my watch on the west side. I had my wallet in my pocket until the second car went after taking the money out of it, two dollars and some change."

"I hailed the car coming north and told the people in the car my wife was shot. I asked the driver to help me load the car so that I could take her into town. There was a bubble or something on her mouth and I thought maybe she was alive and I wanted to get her into town and not leave her in the ditch. The driver said it would be better to leave her there and call the sheriff. I stayed there until the sheriff and doctor arrived. Then I went with the doctor to her body and the doctor said she was dead. Soon after a deputy sheriff asked me if I wanted to leave the car there or drive it. He then told the deputy to drive it for me. I then told my story of the supposed holdup."

Traded for New Gun.
"I got the gun at a pawn shop on South Main street in Rockford a month or a month and a half ago. This was a .33 Colt I think. That didn't work, it didn't fire a shell. The firing pin was too short. I took it back and exchanged it for this automatic which was the one I used in killing my wife."

"I don't know why I killed my wife. I have been driven to it for the last 6 years, a living hell. I had no real home, just a home for my wife's sister."

"My wife and I hadn't lived together as man and wife for 6 years next December because she thought my rheumatism was caused by syphilis, which she read about by being shown it by her sister, Mrs. Daily, in an old doctor book. I asked my wife to come with me to the doctor's who examined me for the rheumatism and he convinced I did not have syphilis as it was put into her head by her sister. She never let me clear up this and prove it."

"I have tried to get her to go by herself and have a happy home but she wouldn't go. She said she couldn't stay alone and wanted to be with her sister, so after mother died, her mother, I told her something would have to be done, that I didn't or rather she would have to go with me or I would go alone. That I married only her and not her relatives. I couldn't do it. We spoke of divorce several times. We had that understanding ever since our marriage that if either one of us was dissatisfied one would separate. She said and agreed to this, not more than 3 weeks ago."

On Way to Attorney.
"This Tuesday night I shot her. I told her if she would get a divorce soon I would foot the expenses, pay the bill, that there was no use going on this way. We agreed to see Francis Burchell and have him straighten this out. We didn't get that far. I don't know why I did it, shot her, before getting there."

"I make this statement on my own free will and accord without any threats or promises having been made to me except that Mr. Inbau agreed not to give the newspapers anything I might tell him."

"I have read this statement after it was written down by Mr. Inbau after being dictated to him by me. It is true and correct."

"One thing more, I have thought of doing this a number of times but fought it back but it got the best of me this time I guess."

Witnessed by Fred E. Inbau and M. E. O'Neill.
Signed by Guy Tailmadge.

The temporary chairman was applauded when he said relief administration should be localized and re-employment encouraged.

Southern Illinois delegates were attempting to get Clarence Smith, of Florida, on the slate of nominees for trustees of the University of Illinois.

Another allegation was that the governor lacks legislative leadership and has called too many special sessions.

"The fear of government stands between the unemployed workman and a job," said one of the sections touching on national issues.

"Political meddling with business and industry must stop," the document also declared.

The farm plank followed the Lowden formula for Federal grants to be administered through land grant colleges for soil conservation. It also asked for tariff protection on competing imports.

Republicans promised a conference of industrial and labor leaders to promote re-employment and said increased consumption is necessary.

Early reduction and eventual repeal of the sales tax was one of the major promises in the committee draft, which declared for immediate removal of the levy from food and necessities.

Cider parts of the resolutions report scheduled to be submitted to the conference included declarations:

That Republicans were opposed by Horner in their 1933 and 1935 efforts to enact permanent registration laws; that relief should be administered by townships and that the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission has been a failure; that old age pensions are inadequate and should be administered locally; that civil service laws have been disregarded.

ADOPTION OF GOP
PLATFORM TO BE DELAYED AWHILEDeclaration of Principles
Submitted to State Convention

Peoria, Ill., May 22—(AP)—Concentrating their attack of Governor Horner, platform drafters for the Republican state convention today said they would limit themselves to a "declaration of principles" and that definite stands on national issues would not be formulated for several months.

The plan was for the county delegations to recess the convention until late summer, when the state committee would call an adjourned meeting to finish the platform work.

Members of the resolutions committee worked until after midnight on drafts of the "declaration of principles" brought from Chicago conferences.

In addition to endorsing the state ticket and pledging Republican efforts toward re-employment, sales tax reduction and a five-day week, the tentative document denied most of the claims made for the Horner administration by the Democratic state platform.

To Remove Halo
"Our purpose is to take from Horner's head the halo he acquired when he charged his former associates with bossism," Senator N. M. Mason of Ogleby told other committee members.

There were declarations that the Democrats at Springfield have increased taxes, opposed honest elections, misrepresented the amount of state aid to schools, increased bonded indebtedness, mismanaged prisons and welfare institutions, attempted to end state sovereignty and abused the distribution of relief funds.

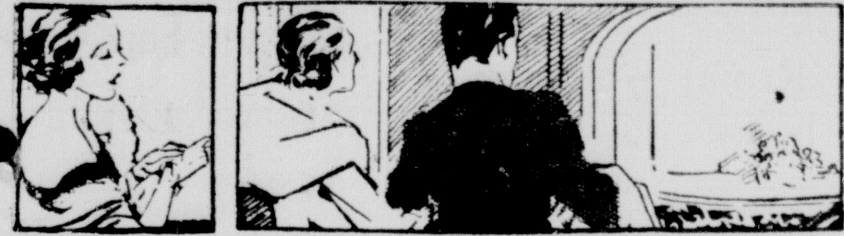

Another allegation was that the governor lacks legislative leadership and has called too many special sessions.

"The fear of government stands between the unemployed workman and a job," said one of the sections touching on national issues.

"Political meddling with business and industry must stop," the document also declared.

HEALING HATRED

By Joseph Fort Newton

A famous story tells how Charles Lamb went to a party and saw a man across the room whom he did not like. A friend offered to introduce him to the man, but Lamb declined the honor.

"No, I hate him," he said in his slow manner, half a drawl and half a stammer, but with a smile all mixed up in it. "No, I want to hate him, and if I know him I can't go on hating him."

A friend of mine—now a famous minister—was with the American artillery in 1917, speeding along the train from LeHavre to somewhere in France. From the car window they saw a group of German prisoners making hay in the serene fields of France.

"Fed up on hate, our boys yelled at the Germans, snook their fists and cried for revenge. The Germans, not understanding a word they said, taking their gestures as friendly, smiled back like big boys. "Our wrath subsided," my friend added. "Stillness came over us, and we felt silly. As we looked the Germans were changed from enemies and became men—men for whom we felt admiration and pity."

"It taught me a lesson. We hate the person whom we consider as only one member of a group, or class, or race, or creed—a pacifist, a militarist, a socialist, a capitalist, or something else."

"But when in any member of the group we see the likeness to ourselves, we see that he is not responsible for the ill of the world, or for the things we hate, or think we hate, so furiously."

"In other words, when we see him as a man we cease to hate him. If only we could see men as individuals and cease hating them in the group, in the mass, we should feel admiration pity and love."

In England, after the World War, they started a society of which the Prince of Wales became one of the first members. Called TOCH, taking only the initials for its full name—To Cure Hate.

If only such a movement could march over the earth, and do its benign work, we should have a friendly, kindly world!

Paw Paw Weddings Of Interest Here

WORSLEY-KELLY

At one o'clock Sunday, May 17, Miss Wynette Worsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Worsley of Paw Paw, was wedded to George Kelly at the Worsley home. Rev. George Vouga, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated at the ceremony which was followed by the wedding dinner.

The bride was attired in white chiffon velvet with dainty pink accessories. The bride's sister, Regina, was her bridesmaid and only attendant, was gowned in peach colored lace with matching accessories and both ladies wore corsage bouquets of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Crawford Roberts of Chicago served his friend George as best man and the gentlemen wore the conventional dark.

The tablets in the dining room were beautifully decorated in the pink and white color scheme chosen by the bride and the intimate friends, Mrs. Orie Moorehouse of Mendota, and Mrs. Don Baker, of Paw Paw, assisted in serving the delicious two-course dinner.

The large wedding cake which adorned the center of the bride's table was made by her uncle, Mr. William Worsley, of Chicago.

The happy couple left in the afternoon for a honeymoon trip where Mr. Kelly takes his bride for a two weeks tour through Canada and New York, down the coast of Maine.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will begin housekeeping in the Kelly home which the groom has recently remodeled and redecorated.

Both of these young people are well known and popular. George has always lived in Paw Paw and has hosts of friends and is rated as a number one workman in his line of electrical work and carpentering. Wynette came to Paw Paw from Mendota a few years ago and has made a worth while place in the town's circles with her winning personality and musical ability.

Besides the immediate family, out of town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. William Worsley and children of Maywood, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kidd of Triunph, Mr. and Mrs. Ed DeLess of Mendota and Mr. and Mrs. John Marks of Earlville.

ETZBACH-McLAUGHLIN
Another wedding in Paw Paw was the pretty ceremony performed Sunday, May 17, at high noon uniting the lives of Miss Darlene Etzbach and Dee McLaughlin, Rev. Lester Sprenger of the Methodist church of LaSalle officiated as the young people pledged their vows at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Weberski, cousins of the bride.

A pink ensemble with white accessories was chosen for the bride and her corsage bouquet was sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Weberski served as matron of honor and wore yellow crepe with white accessories and a corsage of mixed sweet peas. Mr. Weberski performed the duties of best man. The simple but impressive ceremony was spoken under an archway of pink and white carnations in the living room of the home and a fine wedding dinner was served to the immediate family.

A short wedding trip was enjoyed and the young people returned Monday evening and are making preparations to begin housekeeping very soon in the residence which they recently purchased of Mrs. Effie Cornell and now occupied by Mr. Kreuger.

Dee and Darlene are popular young people of the Paw Paw community, both being graduates of the local high school. Mrs. McLaughlin is the daughter of Fred Etzbach and has been one of the successful school teachers in the Paw Paw rural district and Dee, son of Mrs. Cora McLaughlin, has a responsible position with the Moorehead Implement Co.

Kin Dixon Woman Submits to Knife

The picture page of the Telegraph on May 20 contained a picture of Mrs. Robert A. Platt, wife of a University of Chicago professor and sister-in-law of Francis Campbell Shanks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Campbell of this city. The picture showed Mrs. Platt smilingly submitting to a knife in the hands of the medicine man of the Arguarana Indians in the east foothills of the Peruvian Andes. The medicine man cut off a lock of her hair as part of a ceremony accepting the Platt as friends of the tribe. The Indians were once head hunters.

Miss Hattie Zalecki
Honored at Party
Mrs. Michael Zalecki delightedly entertained a group of 19 ladies at her home, 1006 Galena avenue Wednesday evening, the event being a surprise shower for her daughter, Miss Hattie of Chicago, who is to be a bride of the late summer. Miss Zalecki expects to be married to Harry Wirtz of Chicago late in July. Both young people have been in the employ of the Charles Waigren company for several years. Miss Hattie is now enjoying a week's vacation from her duties, visiting with her parents in Dixon.

Bunco was the principal diversion of the evening at which Mrs. James McGrail won first prize and Mrs. Joseph Lyons won second honors. The beautiful Zalecki home was decorated with spring blossoms in profusion, and during the evening, Miss Hattie was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts.

Mitchell Brezinski of Chicago, a brother of Mrs. Zalecki, will depart June 14 with a group of specially selected soloists from Polish singing societies of Chicago, for Warsaw, Poland, where he will participate in an international singing contest. He is expected to return to the United States about the middle of July and will be present at the wedding of Miss Zalecki in Dixon.

At the conclusion of the most delightful evening, Mrs. Zalecki served refreshments.

Mrs. Bowers Member Election Board

Mrs. A. C. Bowers, progressive young president of the Dixon Woman's club returned last evening from attending the convention of Federated Women's club in Chicago.

Yesterday Mrs. Bowers received quite an honor, being appointed to the election board of the Federation. Mrs. Bowers states that the election was most interesting, and the new mechanical election machines were employed. A Chicago morning paper today prints the following on the election of interest:

By a majority of only thirteen votes Mrs. Truman F. Creager yesterday won the vice presidency of the northern region of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs. She defeated Mrs. Fred W. Waterman. The election featured the final day of the 41st annual convention of the federation in the Hotel Sherman. The vote stood 281 to 268.

The race for this office, which is a stepping stone to the presidency of the federation, was one of the closest in the history of the organization. The two candidates are similarly qualified and each had the backing of important leaders in both the state and national organizations.

Mrs. Creager was presented as a candidate by the Second district, of which she is a past president. For two years she was president of the West Pullman Woman's club and now is serving as president of the Past President's club of West Pullman and as a sponsor of the West Pullman Junior Woman's club. As a member of the state executive committee she helped plan the program for the 40th birthday party of the Illinois federation. Last spring she was chairman of Mrs. Walter W. Seymour's candidacy for the vice presidency of the general federation.

Mrs. Fred M. Tuckerman, immediate past president of the Lake View Woman's club, received 538 votes as the unopposed candidate for the position of recording secretary in the state federation. Mrs. George Plummer received 537 votes as the unopposed candidate for parliamentarian.

FLOWERS FOR THE LIVING

Veterans of Foreign Wars will offer the poppies on the streets Saturday, giving everyone an opportunity to pay tribute to the war dead and to help the war's living victims with contributions given for the flowers.

The poppy not only gives us a means of rendering personal tribute to the memory of those brave young men who sacrificed their lives for America, it also gives us a means of aiding those who also sacrificed but still are within reach of our help. From the annual wearing of the flower, come benefits reaching into every corner of the country and touching the lives of thousands of unfortunate men, women and children.

The vast program of welfare and rehabilitation work carried out by the veterans draw its principal support from the poppy. The dimes, quarters and half dollars dropped into the coin boxes of the poppy workshops supply the means for local, state and national activities for the benefits of disabled veterans and the families left in need through the death or disability of veterans. The poppy day contributions make aid available during the other 364 days of the year to those who still are paying in steady installments, the war's bitter debt of suffering and privation.

The poppies to be sold in Dixon this year, were made at the state hospitals by the disabled veterans.

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE

Members of the American Medical society in convention in Kansas City indicated that they have no taste for socialized medicine.

Some of the proposals to socialize medical practice
in the United States depart radically from what Americans have been pleased to call "private initiative."

Briefly stated, these suggestions call for physicians to care for a certain number of persons, especially those in the low-salaried class, in return for a fixed salary paid out of public funds.

American experience with socialized medicine has been negligible. Yet a great many Americans have had experience with a system which amounted, in effect, to the same thing, and some of them remember it with a great deal of distaste if not actual horror.

It occurred during the World War, when the physical well-being of units of soldiers was placed in the hands of physicians commissioned as army officers at a stipulated salary. The majority of these physicians were conscientious men of varying abilities. In military units where able physicians were in charge, things went as well as could be expected, considering handicaps of army life and the lack of facilities. But in units where the physician was slovenly or ignorant in any degree, matters were deplorable to just that extent.

From the soldier's viewpoint the situation was undesirable because he could not change doctors. He could not argue with the doctor over a diagnosis if it appeared to him a snap judgment. He accepted the medicine and took it under orders, facing court martial
if he threw it out the barracks window.

They could not argue with the physician any more than a private citizen of today can argue with a bureaucrat or a traffic policeman, and it is to be wondered, if socialized medicine becomes a practice in this country, if we will not have, to the extent insured by human nature, bureaucrats instead of the good old family doctor.

Army doctors were human. They did not necessarily go into the army on their reputations. Some of them were scientists of the highest order seeking to save human life and learn more about the science.
Others were bureaucrats.

Advantages of the present system are that a physician attracts patients by his skill, knowledge and personality. He hangs out his shingle, attacks disease and succeeds or fails, depending upon his ability rather than upon his political pull. Patients restored to health have definite proof of his ability, and they recommend him to others. With physicians of today it is a case of survival of the fittest. In any political system it will be a case of survival of the best politician.
Who desires his life to depend upon the appointees of a political party?

One of the arguments put forth by proponents of socialized medicine is that it would lower costs and hence keep a small-salaried man from being ruined by expenses incidental to a serious illness. Most physicians, under the present system, take some account of a man's income when they make their charges.

COURT NOT MAKING LAW

One of the principal criticisms of supreme courts,
national and state, has been that they have promulgated court-made law.

That is one objection that can not be made to stand in the decisions of the supreme court of the United States in holding New Deal legislation void. That is the very thing the court has refused to do.

If the court were to validate these measures, it would have to read into the constitution matters and things the court never found there before.

In pursuing its course during the last three years,
it has laid down the pattern made by the people, which opens with that famous expression, "We, the people,"
has placed next to it the New Deal laws, and has declared when they have conformed and when they have not conformed.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

Wee Scouty eyed the pelican,
and said, "The old prospector man told us that you would take us to some place where we'd have fun."

"So, looking forward to a treat,
we built this very dandy seat.
Are we to have no results from the task that we have done?"

Another Tiny chimed right in,
and said, "For days and days
we've been friends of the old prospector, and we know that he'd play fair."

"You say, you are his pet. Well, then, you'd best try taking us,
again. Perhaps we will seem lighter, when once we are in the air."

The funny bird just winked and sighed, and then walked right to Scouty's side. "I really am not fooling," he exclaimed. "I tried my best."

"Give me a chance to think a bit. I'll find some good way out of it. Although I'm just a pelican, with thinking powers I'm blessed."

The Tinies waited for a while and then the bird cried, with a smile. "Somebody yell again that funny word that brought me here.

"If other birds will lend some aid, I'm sure a long trip can be made. Have patience! Ere the day is o'er, I'll fill you full of cheer."

The strange call rang out through the air and shortly Goldy cried, "Look there! Another pelican is coming, sure as I'm alive."

"Just wait," the first bird shouted. "You are going to see some other, too. If you just will be patient, you will see two more arrive."

Of course the Tinies didn't mind
the waiting. "You've been very kind," said Windy to the first bird.
"We are glad you had this hunch."
"Now, when the two birds get down here, there really should be naught to fear. Four of you should be able to lift up the Tiny bunch."

Immediate Exemption of Foods and Necessities of Life From Sales Tax Plea

C. Wayland Brooks and Others Flay Democrats

Peoria, Ill., May 22.—(AP)—C.
Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor, declared for the immediate exemption of foods and other necessities from the Illinois retailers occupational (sales) tax
in his address today before the party's state convention.

Keynoting for the party on state issues, Brooks called for the "ultimate abolition" of the tax, with the exemptions as the first step.
"For the first time in history of this commonwealth," the nominee declared, "the poor man must pay a tax on his food, his clothing and the necessities of everyday existence."

"This is wrong, and the republican party will devote itself un-tiltingly to enact the necessary legislation to exempt food and the necessities."

One Fling at Horner
Brooks took one fling at Governor Henry Horner.

He declared that bills for permanent registration would have passed, with Republican support,
but for "the active interference
of the Democratic Tammany leaders, including the present governor, who was then an important part of that political machine."

On unemployment relief, Brooks announced the party would advocate making it a felony to solicit political contributions from relief clients or otherwise "intimidate" them.

"Thousands of our citizens have had to ask the government for food and the necessities. Added to that humiliation, they have felt the stinging lash of political pressure that caused them, through fear, to participate in political activity against their will."

"We must remove this stain of dishonor from the political activities of this state."

Employment Objective Reemployment, he said, would be his "primary objective."

Brooks declared the Democratic administration had taken off 23 million dollars in taxes by abolishing the general property tax, but had added 75 million in new imposts. He asserted:

"There isn't a man in this state

who owns a humble home, an average farm, a reasonably sized store, a place of business or a small factory who doesn't today
pay more in sales tax than he ever paid on his real estate assessment, and yet this administration claims to be a friend of the common man."

The Republican party, he said, is "unalterably opposed" to any increase in real estate taxes, adding it would strive instead to reduce the cost of government.

For Lowden Plan
On agriculture, he championed
"the Lowden formula" of federal subsidies administered through the states, urged "adequate protective measures" against imported meats, oils and fats, and declared for a
"farm home program" to bring electricity, telephones and better mail and school facilities to the farms.

He also advocated a 10 to 12
cent tariff on blackstrap molasses, saying it would save the home market for 40 million bushels of corn.

Other stands included these:
Civil service—"The management
of many of our state institutions, and the gross violation of civil service laws, is an absolute disgrace."

Education—"The party will devote itself to continuously increasing the state school funds." Pensions—"Our elderly people should not be made to be considered as paupers before they receive generous assistance."

Glenn's Address
Otis F. Glenn, nominated for United States Senator, told the convention that the party must "stand upon sound ground and fight until victory comes," without attempting to "outdo the new dealers."

Glenn discussed the party's political issues after Brooks.
Calling for a vigorous battle against the "unsound and impractical program of the national administration," Glenn, a former U.
S. Senator, told the convention:

"The Republican party must continue on its way as the party of the constitution, the defender
of the judiciary, the upholder of the independence of the Supreme Court, standing for sound money
and the sanctity of contracts,
against exploitation, against confiscation, against destruction,
against socialism, against fascism,
against religious persecution,
against dictatorship, against Communism, for human rights, including the right to earn, to save, to have and hold property honestly gained by industry and thrift."

Specific Stands

Outlining specific stands he said
the party should take, Glenn said:
"We should substitute a Republican policy of spending less for a
"dearwater" policy of taxing more."

"We should condemn the monopoly of huge combinations in industry, and demand that healthful competition be encouraged. We should give the small business man
a fair chance."

A plan of increasing consumption, rather than lowering production, should be offered to agriculture, he said, along with "ample tariff protection."

He called for "strict economy"
and no "spoils" in relief, adding:
"We should send politicians to prison who prostitute the relief measures and funds for the purpose of intimidating voters and carrying elections."

Defend Supreme Court

Along with proposing a "vigilorous defense of the Supreme Court," he said, "We must sus-tain and strengthen the constitution."

The party should insist, he said,
upon a "steady and substantial improvement in the condition of those who labor," and should "demand the right of labor to organize."

Other policies for which Glenn called included:
"Reasonable regulation of the liquor traffic."

The enactment of laws to reduce loss of life in traffic accidents.
A return to the gold standard.
Opposition to giving the Federal Government wider powers.

"There is too much governmental inspection, regulation, investigation, inquisition," he declared.
"The Republican party should reduce these to a minimum."

The Republican party was pictured as involved in a fight against "Socialism, dictatorship and despair" with Illinois as the "pivotal state" by Werner W. Schroeder of Chicago, permanent chairman.

Schroeder said:

History Will Be Debt.
"Only one definite thing has been accomplished by this administration.

"That has been the building up of the largest peace time national debt. When the history of the Roosevelt administration is written

it may be summed up thus—debt,
debt, debt."

"Some day the debts must be paid, and in that day, we, or our children's children, will experience adversity such as we have never dreamed of."

"Eventually, there would not be enough taxpayers to carry the load.
All property would have to be acquired by the government."

"In that way, the policy of the New Deal of accumulating debts
will be economic forces, driving us to Socialism, a result which the inner circle of the New Deal has apparently attempted, but so far unsuccessfully, by direct legislation."

"With the progressive development toward Socialism, there is a tendency to shift the burden of the weak and the poor. We have seen state after state adopt a sales tax."

Face Economic Ruin.

"We have seen the same tendency under the guise of social security in Washington place a tax upon every pay envelope in the United States. Those measures are but the dawn of the day when the middle class and the poorer persons will face economic destruction."

"Socialism has always brought dictatorship and dictatorship and despair go hand in hand. Against all three, Socialism, dictatorship and despair, the Republican party is unalterably opposed."

"In this fight against all three, Illinois may prove this fall to be the pivotal state, the result in Illinois may determine the result in the nation."

Rep. Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin asserted as temporary chairman of the convention that the Democratic administration has a record of failure.

Destructive Reform.

He denounced it for "a program of reform much of which turned out to be destructive," declaring business had been "stricken with bewilderment and fear."

"What a paradox it is," the congressman said, "that in the richest nation of the world, we have 25 billion idle dollars in the national banks, 12 million pairs of idle hands, an unlimited home market
—and each separated from the other by a wall of fear and uncertainty so that the nation cannot go forward with a great surge of joyous confidence."

Dirksen said all the major charges made against the Republicans in 1932 could be turned against the present administration.

"We were accused of having destroyed farm prices," he said.
"What has been done? We are handing the farmers' home market,
by reciprocal trade agreements,
over to foreign competition."

"Argentine corn, Canadian pork, Argentine beef, Polish rye, Canadian wheat, Australian and Danish butter and Chinese soybeans are threatening his market and his prices."

12,000,000 Unemployed.
"Where we were charged with maintaining an extravagant farm
board, we have today a commodity credit corporation whose losses on cotton already aggregate more than 50 million dollars."

He declared the administration's employment projects left 12 million unemployed and 16 million on relief, asserted its silver program has "almost ruined the monetary sys-

only achievements toward housing were "a few low cost units that look like Harvard dormitories."

Dirksen urged the Republicans
to avoid emotionalism and "stick to the facts," declaring the party has a crucial "educational mission."

Electrification Law Signed by President

Washington, May 22—(AP)—President Roosevelt has signed the Norris bill authorizing expenditure of $410,000,000 over the next 10 years for rural electrification. The first year the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would be authorized to make loans up to $50,000,000 in the aggregate to the rural electrification administration. Appropriations of $40,000,000 a year for the nine years following were authorized.

The act is designed to extend power lines into rural areas with long term loans to farm groups, municipalities, and private companies.

While private concerns borrow, a provision of the new law says that farm associations, cooperatives and other non-profit farm units should be given preference.

Van Sweringen Lines Order New Equip'm't

Washington, May 22—(AP)—Railway equipment orders totaling more than $13,500,000 have been announced by two Van Sweringen railways. Manufacturing firms in Huntington, W. Va., Butler and Johnstown, Pa., Columbus, O., Michigan City and East Chicago, Ind., and Richmond, Va., will participate.

The group of orders involves construction of 5,900 freight cars and is the largest to be placed by any railway system in some months. It will bring to above $50,000,000,000 the total of new equipment orders by the Van Sweringen lines east of the Mississippi in the past four years.

A Royal Dish to Grace the Feast

Crown roast of pork deserves the place of honor on the most festive occasion. It is shown here with a border of fried apple rings filled with whole prunes and with its center filled with prune dressing.

By Lucile Harris GALA DISHES TO CELEBRATE THAT FESTIVE EVENT

There are times for economy dishes, and times for quick, easily prepared meals, but there are, on every housewife's calendar, red-letter days when the very best of her culinary skill is called for and appreciated. It may be a holiday, an anniversary, a family gathering or a dinner for very special guests. Whatever the occasion, it is fun to achieve something really worth remembering in the way of a feast, if only to show what a super-cook you can be when you put your mind to it.

Of course there are all those special details of best linen and china, table decorations and so on, which indicate the special occasion. But the clever woman realizes that these, important as they are, are secondary to the "heart" of the affair, the main dish at the feast.

The gala dinner may be best planned, as other dinners are, about the meat course. And here are some suggestions for meat dishes which may be counted on to "high light" the occasion.

One of these dishes, which looks very special, and then keeps its promise by tasting as good as it looks is a planked steak.

Planked Steak
1 porterhouse steak; 2 inches thick
6 potatoes

6 small tomatoes
6 small onion, cooked
3 slices bacon
1 egg
1 small head cauliflower
1/2 cup bread crumbs
Butter
Parsley, minced
Paprika
Sugar
Salt and pepper

Trim the steak. Sear on both sides in a hot skillet or on the broiler. Broil or panbroil for about 15 minutes. Oil a heated plank and place the steak on the plank. Arrange tomatoes stuffed with buttered bread crumbs, sprinkled with sugar and covered with bacon small cooked onions and cauliflower flowerets around the steak. Pipe a border of mashed potatoes with a pastry tube and brush slightly with beaten egg. Place the plank in the oven until the potatoes are tender. Take from the oven and spread the steak with butter into which finely chopped parsley, salt and paprika have been rubbed.

Crown Roast of Pork Slices of salt pork
1 cup prunes
2 cups bread crumbs
1 medium-sized onion, finely chopped
1 cup diced celery
chopped pepper, finely
1 cup meat stock

Stuffed Lamb Chops with Mushroom Dressing
6 lamb chops cut double thickness
1 cup bread crumbs
3 tablespoons chopped mushroom caps
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 egg
1 tablespoon milk
Salt and pepper
Have a pocket cut in the chops.

Have the crown prepared at the market. Wrap the rib ends with salt pork to prevent charring. Season the crown with salt and pepper and fill with prune dressing. For the dressing, cook the prunes in water until tender, then drain and cut in small pieces, removing the pits. Add the bread crumbs, onion, celery and green pepper, season with salt and pepper and moisten with meat stock. Place the dressing filled crown on a rack in an open roasting pan. Do not add water and do not cover. Put in a moderate oven (300-350 degrees F.) and roast until done, about three hours. To serve, remove salt pork and slip paper fills over rib ends. Garnish the platter with fried apple rings and whole prunes.

Steaks and roasts need not claim all the honors as main dishes for special occasions. Perhaps you or your guests like chops equally well. Lamb chops, with mushroom dressing, are good enough for any royal repast.

Season with salt and pepper. Make a dressing of 1/2 cup bread crumbs, mushroom caps browned in butter, baking powder and seasoning. Stuff the pocket of each chop. Dip in egg, beaten in milk and bread crumbs. Place in a moderately hot oven (450 degrees F.) and brown nicely on both sides. Add a little water, cover and cook at a lower temperature (300 degrees F.) until done.

A very special kind of pork chops is butterfly chops. These are made by opening out double slices cut from the boned loin of pork. Here is the way they are prepared.

Butterfly Pork Chops.
6 butterfly pork chops
1 clove garlic
1 pimiento
1 green pepper
Salt and pepper

Rub a skillet with a cut clove of garlic. Brown the chops nicely on both sides in hot frying-pan, then reduce the temperature, cover closely and let chops cook slowly until done, about one hour. Serve on a hot platter and garnish with parsley and strips of pimiento and green pepper.

POETS' CORNER

"GONE IS THE OLD APPLE TREE."

A tree that looked at God all day;
And lifted her leafy arms to pray;
Neath the waving boughs half hid
The house.
Where stood the loved tree, marks
The age 93.
Many years unharmed by the wearing blast,
Where youth and joy have passed,
The hearts will pine and vainly
Pray for a seat of yesterday.

The years can tell, how we loved
So well.
The fragrant blossoms that fell O'er the old oaken bucket, that Hangs in the well.

But now no more amidst the boughs,
The bluebird's song shall gush,
To hail the earliest dawn of light,
That makes the Orient blush.

No more when parting day hath tinged
With purple hues the even,
Shalt hear the robin warble sweet,
His vesper-hymn to Heaven.

In the glad days of spring when
the spirit rejoices,
When the old apple-tree looked as gay as a bride,

I could dream that I heard every one of the voices.
Of the friends who sat on the bench by my side.

Of the many now sleeping of dear friends and kindred long gone to the tomb,
Saw 'neath bending boughs,
When in its beauty and bloom.

And the old oaken bucket is still in its place,
But the dear household faces,
Whom welcome I courted, they have vanished
And left me the last in the race.

O, the lark may sing in the clouds
of spring,
And the swan in the silver sea,
But I shall mourn for the shade,
where the song bird made her nest in the old apple tree.

That hallowed word is near forgot,
No matter where we roam,
The purest feeling of the heart,
Still clings round the home.
Mrs. Charles Florabell Throop,
Grand Detour, Ill.

OUT OF HEART'S STORE

Do we take for granted
The work the teacher does?
And do we fail to realize
How much she's helping us?

Day by day, throughout the week,
Our children have her care,
She teaches them their lessons,
As well as to play fair.

It is indeed a privilege
To help to honor one
And to show appreciation,
For years of work well done.

How many youngsters she has helped

The Lord alone does know,
So many times a steady hand
Changes the way they go.

Ten years ago, I saw the change
That took place in this school,
When Hermoine Vincent came to teach

With a far different rule,
She kept the children busy
And it doesn't seem so odd,
The rubber hose was banished
As a correction rod.

At recess and the noon hour
She taught them handcraft,
They were so proudly busy
With the tools and with the drill.

I spent a pleasant evening
In the basement, when some toys,
Were being made and painted
By happy girls and boys.

Thru these years the spirit
Of this school has been the best,
Knowledge and experience
Has passed a rigid test.

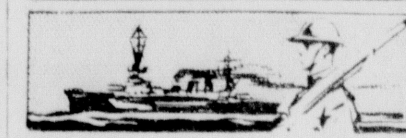

Hot lunches and the P. T. A.
Bow at Miss Vincent's door
And if you should recollect,
You'd think of something more.

Birthdays should be happy days
To add to life's success,
We wish Miss Vincent many more,
Of health and happiness.

DAILY HEALTH

Popular Misconceptions: II

While the vast majority of persons pay little attention to their diet and in consequence fail to eat properly or adequately, there are a number of individuals—apparently on the increase—who are convinced that a scrupulously planned diet is essential to health.

With obvious exception, such as sufferers from diabetes or peptic ulcer, the ordinary mixed diet provides such a wealth of the necessary factors, including salts and vitamins, that any alteration or restriction is much more likely to do harm than good.

Only those who unfortunately exist on the hunger line or who through ignorance or indifference live upon a restricted diet, need fear that that great chemical synthetic machine, the body, will be unable to extract from the ordinary mixed diet exactly what is required for the complete and proper functioning of each and every organ.

Another, and this is probably the most popular misconception, maintains that constipation is the root of all evil. Except in the rarest cases, the sequels of constipation are all subjective phenomena. The head-ache and lassitude so commonly charged to constipation are more likely to be the result of auto-suggestion than auto-intoxication.

Another misconception that deserves scrutiny is the belief that modern life is "too strenuous." That it is "too strenuous" in the relative sense; that many could with profit relax and take things easier, is self-evident. But more frequently, when the opinion is expressed that modern life is too strenuous, a comparison is drawn with former times.

To those who maintain this belief, a study of everyday life, during say the middle ages, will soon reveal that "the largest executive in the biggest office surrounded by 20 telephones and a hundred typists is less fatigued at the end of the day than he would have been after five minutes in the galleys or an hour at the court of imperial Spain."

GOOD THOUGHTS.

A wise traveler goeth on cheerily through fair weather and through foul. He knoweth that his journey must be sped, so he carries his sunshine with him.

—M. Tupper.

We can only have the highest happiness by having wide thoughts and much feeling for the rest of the world.

—George Eliot.

To enjoy true happiness, we must travel into a very far country, and ever out of ourselves.

—Sir Thomas Browne.

Happiness is neither within our nor without us; it is the union of ourselves with God.

—Pascal.

The fruit of the spirit is love, joy, peace.

—Galatians 5.

Joy is wholly spiritual. And since all desire it, even though misunderstanding its nature, individuals can at once begin to seek it in the right way by looking away from self and from dependence on other persons, to the ever-present fact of eternal, harmonious being, as revealed in the teachings of Christ Jesus. . . . One learns to look for the sweetness of life in spirit, and finds that which is eternal.

With fresh fruits now available, and the ice cream season in vogue too, here is the recipe for a fine white cake, should you be entertaining for some young June bride. It is from an old friend, Mrs. Hunter, of Byron:

1/2 c. butter creamed with 2 c. sugar, add alternately 1 c. of milk with 2 1/2 c. of flour, sifted, with 1 heaping t. of baking powder, and add

Flavoring. Then fold in 4 egg whites beaten stiff. This will make three layers, or one large tin.

I prefer this orange icing: 1 lb. of powdered sugar, Juice of 1 1/2 oranges, and the Grated rind of 1/2 orange. 1 heaping t. of butter, melted.

Mrs. Kasper put one hand to her forehead and stared, saying not a word until attendants led her away.

Then she turned to Dr. Frank F. Jani, who delivered the quadruplets 12 days ago, and said:

"Thank you ever so much, doctor. I'm sorry for all the trouble I caused you."

TIGERS, CARDS SHOWED TITLE FORM IN WINS

Cards Snatch Lead From Giants 4-2; Tigers Win

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

Faint echoes of the thunderous 1934 World Series have begun to rumble through the major leagues as the Tigers and Cardinals show something like their championship form of two years ago.

The Cards have been running along in front for a couple of weeks but it took a day in second place to make them buckle down to work in dead earnest and wallop the Giants 4 to 2 yesterday to regain the lead. Meanwhile the injury-riddled Detroit team has started the same sort of comeback it made after a poor start with their sixth consecutive win.

The triumphs of these two old enemies were the high spots of the big league program yesterday even though Jimmie Foxx belted his tenth home run of the season; Wes Ferrell, John Lanning, the Bees' rookie, and Roy Henshaw turned in some notable pitching. Johnny Whitehead, the White Sox sophomore, and Harry Kelley, the Athletics' freshman, dined for 14 innings before Kelley cracked and the Pirates wound up a six-run ninth inning rally with a homer by Woody Jensen with two aboard to beat the Phillies 7-4.

Beaten by the Giants Wednesday, the Cards had another narrow escape, as Paul Dean and Al Smith battled on even terms for eight innings. The ninth, however, spelled the end of the New York's nine game winning streak. Smith passed Pepper Martin with two out. Joe Medwick and Johnny Mize singled and Virgil Davis doubled to bring in three runs. The Giants got one back on singles by Sam Leslie, Mel Ott and Hank Leiber, but Dean retired Gus Mancuso and pinch hitter Bill Terry to end the game.

The Tigers turned on the heat in the late innings, just as they did last year, and won out in the last inning after tying the count with three runs in the eighth. Singles by Gerald Walker, Charley Gehring and Goose Goslin, the World Series hero, produced the winning tally.

Ferrell Returns for More

Ferrell, knocked out in two innings Wednesday, went right back at the Browns and hurled seven hit balls to win for the Boston Red Sox 6-2; Lanning, up from Knoxville, pitched a four hitter for the other Boston team and came out ahead of the Reds and Lee Stine, 3-2 when Al Lopez walked and Bill Urbanski doubled him home in the ninth. Henshaw, the Cub midget, curved the Dodgers into submission with seven hits, winning 4-0 with the aid of Gabby Harnett's circuit drive.

Whitehead, who was even more of a sensation last year than Kelley has been this spring, came close to being the day's hard luck victim. He didn't allow an earned run but his mates made five errors behind him. He finally won out 3-2 in the 14th when Kelley gave three straight walks and then a single to Luke Appling.

The Senators found their experiment of shifting Cecil Travis from short to right field a successful one when the youngster contributed a home run to a 7-4 triumph over Cleveland.

Chicago, May 22—(AP)—Michigan, current leader of the Western conference baseball race, and Minnesota, defending champion, apparently are in for a week-end of

JESSE OWENS MAIN FIGURE BIG TEN MEET

Golden Slippers of 1935 In Trophy Case New

Columbus, O., May 22—(AP)—Jesse Owens hummed "Oh, them golden slippers" today as he pulled on his spiked shoes for the preliminaries in the Western conference track meet.

A year ago, after Jesse set three world records and tied another at Ann Arbor, his shoes were gilded and placed in Ohio State's hall of fame.

The dusky Buckeye captain, with the Big Ten classic again serving as the backdrop, hoped for another of his record-shattering acts in the preliminaries and Saturday's finals. He wants another pair of his size 7-E golden slippers in that trophy room.

Owens Main Character

Although 233 other athletes from the Big Ten schools were on hand for the 36th annual track and field fixture, they were regarded as only the supporting cast in the "Ebony Antelope's" starring vehicle.

Preliminaries in 10 of the 15 events were scheduled to start at 3 P. M. Only the entrants in the pole vault, high jump, mile and two-mile runs and the relay were exempt from the qualifying tests. Finals in all 15 events will be run off tomorrow afternoon.

Included in the list of 234 athletes were 12 of last year's 14 first placers at Ann Arbor and 41 of the 53 point-winners. Sophomore talent, the unknown quantity which may swing the championship to either Michigan, Ohio State, Indiana or Wisconsin, was present on all teams. The other six schools were given little chance at the title, now held by Michigan's Wolverines.

diamond activity which may clarify the Big Ten title picture.

Michigan, with seven wins and one loss, was expected to have no trouble downing Northwestern today, but on Saturday the Wolverines face Wisconsin's "giant killers," first to defeat Illinois and the first conference team to upset Iowa. The Wolves play Northwestern at Evanston and Wisconsin at Madison.

Minnesota and Iowa, tied for second with six victories and one defeat, play today and again tomorrow in games which may eliminate one of the clubs from the race. The other game Saturday involves Chicago and Purdue.

Berwanger Decides Not To Enter Pro Football Ranks

Chicago, May 22—(AP)—Jay Berwanger, University of Chicago's great football star, said today he has accepted a position with a Chicago industrial concern and definitely will not play professional football.

Berwanger, one of the greatest backs ever developed at the midway and an All-American choice last fall, disclosed his decision against joining the pros when queried about a rumor he had decided to withdraw from the Olympic decathlon competition. He said he would compete in the decathlon trials June 26-27 at Milwaukee and that if he made the Olympic team would start work next fall.

Berwanger, co-captain of the Maroon track team, is not competing in the Big Ten track meet at Columbus today and tomorrow because of approaching examinations for a bachelor's degree in the university's business school.

ILLINOIS DERBY AT AURORA TODAY

Sangreal And The Fighter Go To Post Favored

Chicago, May 22—(AP)—Eleven crack three year olds face the starter at Aurora today for the fourth renewal of the $12,000 added Illinois Derby, first important stake of the Chicago racing season.

Mrs. Ethel B. Mars' entry of The Fighter and Sangreal were expected to go to the post the favorites at 6 to 5, with Rushaway, winner of the Louisiana Derby last winter, second choice at 4 to 1, and likely to gain additional support before the parade to the post, scheduled for 3:45 Central Standard Time.

The condition of The Fighter, winner of the Texas Derby at Arlington Downs, was the subject of considerable speculation. The colt may not start, leaving Sangreal to carry the colors of the Milky Way Farms stable. Even should Sangreal have to carry on alone it was considered likely the Milky Way starter would be the public choice.

PHILLIES GOT LARGE SUM FOR KLEIN'S RETURN

$140,000 In Deals By Which Klein Was Sold, Rebought

New York, May 22—(AP)—Chuck Klein, who was regarded as something like a one-man ball team when he was causing the Phillies financial experts trouble trying to strike a balance between the fans he drew into the park and the balls he knocked out of it, has proved to be just that in the trades for him between the Phillies and the Cubs.

So far the Phils have received, directly or otherwise, seven players and approximately $140,000—enough to buy a good many more men—in deals resulting from the sale and repurchase of Klein. They have given up three men in the course of the bargaining, but they have Klein back again.

While the Phils sold Chuck to the Cubs in 1933 they received Mark Koenig, Ted Kleinhaus, Harvey Hendrick and $65,000. Koenig later was traded to Cincinnati for Otto Bluege and Irvine Jeffries. In yesterday's big deal with the Cubs the Phils had to give up Curt Davis, the young pitcher who was the most important piece of "ivory" under consideration, and outfielder Ethan Allan, in order to get Klein and Fabian Kowalik and $75,000 to boot.

Klein and the cash remain as the main consideration in the trading, however, for Kleinhaus failed to stick with the Phils, coming back to the majors with the Yankees, this spring. Bluege and Jeffries soon faded out while Hendrick was released.

Incidentally Chuck's original cost to the Phils, when they got him from Port Wayne, Ind., was reported as $7,500. Davis cost the same.

PICARD TO FIRE OPENING GUN OF NATIONAL OPEN

Pairs Will Depart First Tee, Five Minutes Apart

New York, May 22—(AP)—The first big gun of the 1936 National open golf tournament, to be played over the Baltusrol (N. J.) course June 4-6, is scheduled to boom at 7:50 A. M. (Eastern Standard time.)

At that hour Henry Picard, the Hershey, Pa. pro who has been installed as pre-tournament favorite, is due to tee off for his first round with Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y. as his partner. Thirty-five minutes earlier Jack Munger, the flashy Dallas amateur, and Zell Eaton of Oklahoma City, recent recruit to the pro ranks, were slated to open the tourney.

At five minute intervals after the start, 84 other pairs, comprising the largest starting field in the history of the events, will send their tee shots down the fairway in an effort to capture the crown won last year by the "unknown" Sam Parks, Jr. of Pittsburgh.

Parks, although the defending champion, is rated no better than a 50 to 1 shot to repeat.

The field of 170—ten more than started at Oakmont last year—includes 33 amateurs and virtually all the pros whose records qualify them as possible winners. A few stars, notably Lawson Little, the former amateur king, failed to survive the sectional qualifying tests.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS
Calendar
Friday, May 22—Assembly—Movie Sophomore Banquet—High School 6:30.
Saturday, May 23—Bureau County Field and Track Meet.
Wednesday, May 27—Senior Farewell Assembly.
Thursday, May 28—Senior Examinations.
Friday, May 29—Senior Examinations.

County Track Meet.
The twenty fifth annual Bureau County track and field meet will be held at the Princeton High School Saturday. Invitations have been extended to all schools in the county, and it is expected that approximately ten schools will send representatives. The meet this year will be augmented by the first annual county grade school track meet. These events will be staged at the same time as the high school contest.

The preliminaries will start at 9:00 a. m. and the finals at 1:30. The high school competitors will include all regular events, but the grade school athletes will compete in only the 50 yard dash, 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, and the shot put. Medals will be awarded to the high school athletes who place first, second, and third. The grade school winners will be presented with ribbons.

Records show that it has been two decades since the Blue and Gray of Princeton high school has captured the honors of the meet. Princeton's strong team this year that sent three representatives to the state are favorites to win the trophy. The Tigers are very anxious and enthusiastic to take first and prospects of doing so are very bright.

Roy White, Geneseo high school coach has been assigned as starter.

Sophomore Banquet.
The sophomore banquet will be held at the high school Friday, May 22, at 6:30 o'clock. The theme of the banquet will be, "The Beautiful Blue Danube" with decorations in silver and blue. Carolyn McManis, the class president, will preside over the program which is to follow the banquet. The program is as follows:

Toast—"The Beautiful Theme"—Carolyn McManis.

Toast—"Music Supreme"—Mr. Lowry.
Vocal Solo—"The Beautiful Blue Danube"—John Caba.
Toast—"The World Has Danced"—Esther Poppens.
Toast—"River of Dreams"—Alvin Brandt.
Vocal Solo—"Lost"—Margaret Simpson.
Toast—"White Roses Grow"—Francis Bouxsein.
Piano Solo—"The Rosary"—Loretta Brown.

After the program dancing will be held in the second floor corridor. Ernie Snell's orchestra will furnish the music. Every other dance will be a waltz. The orchestra will conclude the evening playing "The Beautiful Blue Danube."

At State Finals.
Princeton's five entrants in the Illinois High School Athletic Association's state finals track meet and tennis tournament last Saturday were all subdued by the strong competition that prevailed at the University of Illinois stadium in Champaign.

In the track events Rollin Porter and George McManis were eliminated in the preliminaries. Curtis Conant running in the 880, placed sixth but only 5 places were recognized. Conant is the only junior of this trio and is determined to make a strong retaliation next year.

In the tennis events Eddie Slutz and Francis Bouxsein won their first set but lost out in their second. Both of these boys are underclassmen who will be back next year.

Piano Recital.
Sinfonietta, high school music club, is sponsoring a duo-piano recital by Miss Fry and Helen Louis Challacombe to be given Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in the high school auditorium. The two pianists will be assisted by Paul Russell, tenor. The club hopes to receive sufficient funds from the silver offering to purchase a base viol of the music department.

G. A. A. Tennis Tourney.
Twelve girls are participating this week and next in the tennis tournament sponsored by the G. A. A. A medal will be awarded the winner.

The entrants include the following: Jean Springer, Dorothy Cook, Helen Gibbs, Ida Jane Brooks, Carolyn McManis, Virginia Piper, Ruth E. Phillips, Martha Zearing, Virginia Berlin, Jeannette Dahl, Norma Steele, and Kathleen Hayden.

Carolyn McManis is tennis manager for G. A. A.

Ag. Teams Wins Honors.
The Princeton Vocational Agriculture students won the all around championship in the Sectional livestock and grain judging contest held at Princeton Wednesday, May 13.

The dairy cattle judging team composed of Donald Slutz, Walter Neil and Robert Simon won first, and Donald and Walter were high individuals. The small grain judging team took first and Roger Townsend was high individual. Herbert Johnson was second high individual in the judging of poultry. A complete team will go to Urbana to judge in the state contest in June.

French Class Picnic.
Rollicking fun, laughter, merriment and really a swell time spells the first year French class picnic supper held on May 13, when Marian Nelson invited the "gang" out to her house, and when the invitation was most joyously accepted.

When everyone had arrived here she busied him or herself in either trying to ride the "horses" or else preparing the food. The Nelsons hitched a pony to an old fashioned cart and many took rides in it over the hill to the county farm. (For future reference, perhaps.)

A most delicious supper was served consisting of hamburgers, superbly fried by chefs Paschen and Rambo, pickles, ice cream cookies, and all that goes with picnics (including the "tummy-aches").

The guests of the class were the Misses Genevieve Ashdown, Jean Palmer, Frances Malsbury, Donabelle Fry, and Margaret Bell.

With the usual French "adieu" and "au revoir" a perfect picnic came to its close.

Music Club.
On Tuesday evening, May 19, the Music Club had a picnic at the Aqueduct. Plans for next year were made, and the election of officers was held. The nominating committee consisted of Gemma Pieri, Marlowe Mosshart, Maxine Erickson and Ruth Kuhn.

DePue Entertains Princeton.
Approximately forty-five Princeton high school students were entertained by the members of the DePue Senior High School Tuesday evening, May 12. The Princeton students were feted to a wonderful party that consisted mainly of dancing. Many other attractions were had for those who didn't dance including ping pong, checkers, and cards.

The Princeton visitors were greeted by members of the DePue faculty and members of the D. H. S. student council. The local students enjoyed this fete greatly and wish to express their gratification to DePue.

Princeton Wins Two Events.
With but two representatives entered in the Bureau County literary contest held here last Friday, Princeton won two firsts. Edmund Stiles in boy's oration and by Jim Tedrow in extemporé. Last year Edmund won the first place boys humorous and this year ventured into the other division to again be on top. This is Jim's first year in literary competition and his excellent work is to be congratulated.

Chorus Picnic.
Monday evening, May 11th, the mixed chorus of the high school had a picnic, at the City Park north of Princeton. About thirty-five went including Miss Margaret Bell, Miss Frances Malsbury, Miss Donabelle Fry, and Mrs. Frances Mayeur.

Notice.
All library books must be returned to the school library not later than Monday, May 25. After that date a fine of five cents per day will be imposed on all delinquents. No books will be circulated after May 22.

Germany on The Screen.
On Tuesday, May 12, Princeton High School Students were shown some moving pictures of the German military power and of life in Russia. The speaker was Mr. Gus Anderson who is a world traveler. Mr. Anderson has encircled the globe several times and has traveled thousands of miles.

The pictures shown were mainly of the vast German military troops, the field equipment, air force, etc. As the pictures unfolded Mr. Anderson explained them and commented on the preparations Germany was making.

It is of interest to note that Mr. Anderson was a college friend of Mr. R. G. Kelsey who is a member of the faculty of Princeton High. Mr. Kelsey introduced the speaker before the pictures were shown, explaining that it was hard for him to say "Mr. Anderson" because he has always called him "Gus."

The pictures were enjoyed greatly, and probable Mr. Anderson's comments were enjoyed even more.

Pick and Up.
Dear Friendly Enemies,
Well-now in a week or so you and we are gonna sorta get to know each other kinda better like.

Do you know that—Edmund Stiles won first place in the county literary contest by oration. Tedrow won first place in the same contest by extemporé, speaking—Cecil Loberg just blushed and blushed and blushed when he couldn't answer some debate questions asked by the nurses in the latest debate—A little freshe is cutting in on that great big senior, Chuck Schultz. Pauline M. was seen at the local theatre and also at the Den last Sunday with a youth from the mountainous region of Tiskilwa.

The Sophomores are having their banquet this Friday and Caroline McManis is toastmistress—Dick Paschen sings, "Give a man a horse that he can ride" after being out to the Nelson farm—Roland Porter almost spilled a can of tomato soup on Euclid Street—Some Sophomores worked so hard on "A Tale of Two Cities" that they got 100 plus on their projects.

After the prom was over (supposedly) Maggie: What's that street light doing over East there? Lee W.: Street Light—Gosh, no, that's the sun coming up.

"My—What dwait bid twong cops the Valley hath got"—quotation from Junior Lasse).

Nickey and Mickey:—(singing) "Show me the way to go home." Helen I.: Is there a gallon of gasoline in the crowd?

The rest of the promoters: "I'm tired but I don't wanna go to bed".

KASBEER

Kasbeer—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Haun and children spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson of near Dixon. Mrs. Haun and Mrs. Thompson are sisters.

Mrs. Maurice Elliott and son Jimmie Ross of Chicago are visiting this week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Coulter and Mrs. Carl Conkling were Princeton shoppers Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Lamb spent several days this week with relatives in Van Orin.

Mrs. Roy Duey of Ohio called Tuesday at the home of Misses Mary and Emma Pickup.

Mrs. Mac Sowers and son spent Tuesday evening with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Sowers.

The click of the corn planters will soon cease and the corn make its appearance through the ground.

Kasbeer was certainly on the map this week. Monday was church decorating; Tuesday evening, the school play was presented; Wednesday evening the mothers and daughters banquet; Thursday the school picnic; Friday, Ladies' Aid and Saturday was stay at home evening.

Elaine Wilson has been seriously ill for two weeks at the Princeton hospital but is now convalescing.

Charles McGonigle of Prophetstown spent Sunday with relatives and attended services Sunday morning. Mr. McGonigle, at one time lived in Kasbeer.

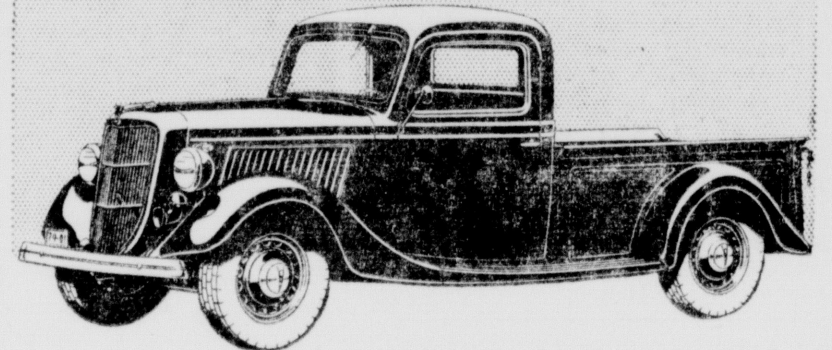

Mr. and Mrs. William Hild spent Sunday with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. King near Ohio.

Orville Vickrey and daughter Miss Zalla attended the class play at Ohio Monday evening in which Miss Madge Vickrey played a part. There is a call for more houses to rent in Kasbeer.

The operetta given by the primary pupils of Miss Erickson's room Tuesday evening was fine and no efforts were spared to make the presentation the success which it proved to be. The cooks, the fishermen and the ginger-bread men played their parts exceptionally well. Miss Edna Worried with the upper grades furnished music before and between the acts, and songs were sung by the pupils of the upper grades. The program was largely attended and was one of the most successful ever undertaken in the Kasbeer school.

Ida Lupino comes of a family that has had actors in every generation for 450 years. Her father, Stanley Lupino, of the English stage, her mother is Connie Emerald, who used to be an actress, and she has five cousins on the stage.

the Seniors.

The entire evening's entertainment was in the form of a circus,
from the clowns who met the guests upon arrival and ushered them into the reception room which was appropriately transformed into a circus ground with rustic seats, benches, beach umbrellas and picnic table, to the delicious circus menu
which included:

Animal Fare
Merry-Go-Round
Baked Moose
Trained Turtle Circus Aquarium
Balloons Cotton Candy
Circus Salad
Animals on Parade
Circus Surprise
Pink Lemonade

The banquet was served under a large various colored streamer covered tent at small tables attractively appointed with gaily dressed and painted clown favors and animal place cards, and by lighted candles in animal candleholders. Several interesting short talks were given at the conclusion of which one hundred small balloons of various colors were released from a huge balloon in the center of the "big top" and floated about the room mingling
with the bright colors of streamer confetti and the dainty shades of the girls' dresses to make a beautifully colorful scene.

A comedy entitled "Dixie Picnic Car" put on by the Juniors, the actors being dressed as Negroes was very much enjoyed by the Seniors and concluded the evening's entertainment.

Rural Class of Ten Graduated Tuesday Evening

Rev. George Neilson, pastor of the Grace Evangelical church of Dixon gave a very inspiring talk at the rural district grade graduation exercises which were held Tuesday evening in the Mills and Petrie Memorial building. A fine attendance of relatives and friends of the class was present.

The platform was appropriately decorated in the class colors of rose and silver and large baskets of lovely spring flowers and ferns, with the class motto "Not Evening But Dawn" in rose letters in the background. During the processional, played by Mrs. Laurence Jennings, the participants of the evening's program took their places on the platform.

Following the invocation offered by Rev. C. P. Bleckins, pastor of the Presbyterian church, the Ashton high school string ensemble played a beautiful selection.

In a few brief words Rev. Parke
O. Bailey, pastor of the Evangelical church, introduced Rev. Neilson, the speaker of the evening who brought a very timely and inspiring message to the young people. Mrs.
Maynard Herbert of Dixon entertained with a beautiful vocal selection, after which Co. Supt. L. W.
Miller presented the diplomas of graduation.

The ten members of the class
were: Mary Jane Friel, Helen Elizabeth Friel, Sarah Lorraine Smith, Vernon Louis Pfeiffer, Evelyn Dalia
Herwig, Darrel Cross, Rogene Anna
Vogeler, Earl Emil Delhotel, Katherine Irene Turner, and Wilbur C.
Klenke. The benediction was offered by Rev. L. E. Winter, pastor

after which the recessional was played by Mrs. Jennings.

The GLAMOROUS ADVENTURE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GAIL EVERETT, who has won the John S. Larnie costume design prize, comes to New York to find work. Gail's parents are both dead. She has spent the past three years at MISS CRANSTON'S fashionable school for girls, due to Miss Cranston's generosity and friendship for Gail's mother.

Armed with a letter from Larnie, Gail goes to the office of the large silk manufacturing company of which he is an officer.
She is told Larnie is out of town,
and not expected back for some time.

DEREK HARGREAVES over-hears this conversation. Later he sees Gail on the street. He approaches and says, "Pardon me,
but didn't I see you in John Larnie's office a few minutes ago?"
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER II

A LOOK of surprise widened Gail's amber eyes as she turned to the young man. "Why,
yes," she said, "I was in Mr.
Larnie's office."

His blue eyes were twinkling.
"You got the dope all right that time, though these lovely ladies make grand watchdogs for the guys higher up. Larnie is out of town."

Gail smiled. "You know Mr.
Larnie?" she questioned.

"Oh, yes, he's a grand chap, but his partner—well, you'd think Heid's purpose in life was to nip genius in the bud. He hates Larnie's generosity and his interest in artists. Thinks encouraging fellows like me—and maybe you—(he glanced toward the big brown envelope Gail was carrying) "is a waste of money. Heid
will never help you, but, if you don't think I'm butting in, maybe I can do something. I guess if you wanted to see John S. Larnie it was about some art work. I'm Derek Hargreaves. I'm painting
some portraits for him."

"That's ever so kind of you to offer, but I don't believe there's anything you can do," Gail answered. After all, this man was a stranger, and Miss Cranston had advised her to beware of strangers, especially in a city like New York.

"Well, if that's how you feel,
all right," Derek pulled his hat
on at its accustomed rakish angle. His eyes twinkled. "I thought perhaps you were a stranger and a word from someone who knows the ropes might save you time
and tears!"

For a moment Gail raised her eyes to Derek's. He was so tall, six feet two in his sox he would have told you. "Well, if you're sure it won't be too much bother,
I guess you can help me."

"That's the girl! I know a little place just around the corner.
Let's go there and talk things over. It won't be busy yet. We're early. Later you almost have to fight for a table!"

WALKING along the short block, Gail told her companion about the prize she had won and her hopes to become a designer.

"Congratulations!" he cried.
"Larnie's a mighty good judge.
Even though he generally has a jury of three or four fashion authorities—editors of swanky magazines—he always has the final say-so, and he's never picked a failure yet. So there, I guess I'm talking to a famous designer! Well, here we are."

Walking down two steps they entered the basement of a brown-stone house. With a gay nod to

Gene Hopes It'll Be a Daughter

"I want a girl," is probably the theme song about Gene Tunney's household these days. According to rumor, the one-time world's heavyweight boxing champion and his wife, shown dining above, are expecting another little Tunney within the next several weeks, and Gene hopes it will be a girl. They already have two sons;
Gene Lauder, 3, and James Joseph, 3.

"Oh, but I can't have a stranger paying for my first lunch in New York!" Gail told him.

the waitress who was dressed as a shepherdess Derek led the way to a corner table. "Now," he said, handing Gail the menu, "what do you want?"

"Oh, I'm really not hungry,"
she answered.

"I haven't eaten yet, so you might as well have something and keep me company. Besides, I think you're going to have a busy afternoon. They have delicious Cornish pasties here. Let me order one for you."

"All right then," Gail answered.
"Now, while she's getting our order," said Derek, as the waitress headed toward the kitchen, "let's talk things over. I suppose the first thing you want is a job."

"Yes, I guess a job's what I want. Of course later I'll have my own place—" Gail stopped.
"Here I am, starting to tell you all my dreams when I hardly know
you!"

"That's O. K. We're both interested in the same things. While I'm doing portraits now, I'll tell you a secret of my deep, dark past. I earned enough to study with Loedler by doing fashion drawing! Lord, how I hate them!"

GAIL smiled. "I'm not so keen either on regular fashion
sketches—those black and whites for newspapers! It's designing gorgeous clothes for young girls that I love."

"Say, that's good, for youth's ruling the world these days.
There's lots of competition,
though. I know two or three youngsters who are making names
for themselves, but there's always room at the top and I guess
that's where you're going."

And so they talked. When the waitress brought the check Gail opened her handbag.

"Now, nothing like that," protested Derek.

"Oh, but I can't have a stranger paying for my first lunch in New York!"

"Surely you don't consider me a stranger now?" Derek looked steadfastly across at the girl.

Again the color rose in Gail's cheeks. "Yes, but a very nice

Announcement is made of the appointment of Charles K. Olson

as purchasing agent and traffic
supervisor of the Whitcomb Loco-

Mr. Olson has been connected with this company for some time,
having served as assistant pur-

an enviable record. He is well known in this city and at present
holds the office of Worthy Patron of the local Order of the Eastern

Flood Control Appropriation Amended Today

Washington, May 22.—(AP)—The Senate has adopted an amendment to the $384,000,000 omnibus flood control bill to authorize the appropriation of $16,000,000 for work on the St. Francis river in Missouri and Arkansas.

Upon motion of Senator Minton
(D-Ind.) a section to provide $2-540,000 for works in the Kankakee river basin at Mokena, Ill., was stricken from the bill. Minton said local officials had urged withdrawal of the proposal. He termed their action "unique."

VENEZUELA RIOTING
Maracaibo, Venezuela, May 21.—
(AP)—Unconfirmed reports today
from Caracas, the capital, said shooting occurred as 20,000 citizens demonstrated against the national congress.

National labor unions, including those in Caracas, had called a 48-hour general strike. Here in this city, the center of the nation's oil producing area—one of the greatest in the world—the shutdown was almost complete.

Army, navy, and police guards patrolled the streets to prevent disorders.

"Mrs. Travers wants to see you about her cloth of gold evening gown," announced a very tall young saleswoman.

"Mrs. Travers!" Instantly
Madame was all smiles. "Yes, yes! I will be there at once." Snatching a compact from her desk, she quickly rouged her cheeks, accentuating the high bones that told of her Slavic ancestry.

"Do you want me to get in touch with some of those people?"
Miss Caroline indicated the file before her.

"Prepare an ad. Maybe we find some one that way."

"I'll have to send it right away
if you want it in tomorrow's paper."

"Tch! I want it in the trade paper. That is where you find people like I want. Get it ready.
I will look at it later." All smiles,

BUDDY POPPY DAY SATURDAY, MAY 23

PROCLAMATION

Whereas: The Buddy Poppy is universally recognized as the official Memorial flower of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, and

Whereas: The annual sale of the Buddy Poppy will be conducted in the City of Dixon on May 23, under the auspices of Horace F. Ortt Post No. 540, V. F. W., and

Whereas: The entire proceeds of the annual Buddy Poppy sale throughout the country will be devoted to the Humanitarian and Philanthropic purposes of Veteran care, child welfare and the relief and assistance of disabled and needy Veterans, and

Whereas: The purposes served by the annual Buddy Poppy distribution of the Veterans Foreign Wars are patriotic in principle and humanitarian in nature,

I Therefore Hereby Officially Proclaim Saturday, May 23 in the City of Dixon, Illinois, as V. F. W. Buddy Poppy Day, and do sincerely urge the citizens of this city to support the Sale of Buddy Poppies as both a civic and a patriotic duty.

Signed, WILLIAM V. SLOTHOWER,
Mayor, City of Dixon, Illinois.

The men of many wars lay silent . . . their names etched on time-discolored tombstones, and unforgettably engraved on the hearts of their children, and all generations which have come after them. The battles they fought made history; yet the glory of victory was theirs in historian's pages only, for they died before the dove of peace proclaimed war ended. It is to be hoped that the men of today, and the children of today who will be tomorrow's men . . . may know a greater victory, in fighting the greatest enemy of all—WAR itself. Let there be no bloodshed . . . no maimed . . . no dead . . . but only life and strength with which to build a greater nation for ourselves, rather than destroy others and so destroy the great ideal—brotherhood of man!

ENDORSEMENT

I am glad to give my heartiest endorsement and approval to the annual Buddy Poppy sale of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, of the United States to be conducted in the City of Dixon on Saturday, May 23. I know of no humanitarian movement more deserving of public support. Both from the standpoint of patriotic sentiment and from a purely economic point of view. The V. F. W. Buddy Poppy sale merits the universal approval of the American nation. We can never forget, if we would, the heroic sacrifices of the thousands of our boys and men who died or were disabled in the World War. By buying the V. F. W. Buddy Poppies to wear on Memorial Day we can best express our debt and our gratitude to those who sacrificed so greatly that this nation and its principles might continue to live.

Signed FRED RUBEN,
Commander Dixon Post No. 12,
American Legion

Sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars

The proceeds of the Sale of Buddy Poppies are spent for Family Relief, Food Kitchens, Employment, Child Welfare, Gifts for Disabled and Hospital Entertainment.
